Gen AI – academic integrity and assessment reform

Contents

Related links

This page contains resources to support institutions, staff and students in considering the potential impacts and benefits generative artificial intelligence (gen AI) tools pose for teaching, learning and assessment. TEQSA understands the uniqueness of each provider's circumstances and therefore offers the following case studies and resources as examples of approaches being taken, both in Australia and beyond, for consideration. The resources on this page are not intended as guidance but rather seek to share approaches and practice.
